Enhance your ability to lead your team through transitions and uncertainty with this course for people managers. Build your capacity to recognize and address emotions during times of change, foster constructive dialogue, navigate difficult conversations with confidence, and create an environment where your team can collectively decide what to sustain, adjust, or let go, while defining clear actions to move forward together.

Introduction

People managers are at the center of organizational change, tasked with driving results while supporting their teams through uncertainty. Balancing these demands requires not only technical skills but also the ability to recognize and respond to the emotional dynamics that change brings. This course acknowledges the unique challenges that managers face and offers a supportive space for exploring these complexities. As the UN undergoes significant reform and organizational change, adopting a people-centric approach is essential. This programme equips managers to lead through change with clarity, empathy, and confidence.

Through a combination of practical tools, frameworks, and guided reflection, the programme equips managers with strategies to engage their teams constructively, navigate difficult conversations, and create an environment where teams can confidently move forward. Participants will leave with greater clarity and confidence to lead their teams through transition while aligning with broader organizational priorities and the evolving reform agenda.
