UNSSC coaching packages provide a supportive space for you to explore challenges, strengthen relationships, and apply practical tools that foster effective leadership and management. Through coaching, you gain valuable insights that enhance your effectiveness in achieving goals and shaping your professional path.

Introduction

Coaching is a learning process. It transforms how we observe ourselves, understand others, and engage in professional situations. It is a collaborative journey of growth, where we work on ourselves with the guidance and support of a coach.

The UNSSC Executive Coaching Package offers a structured and supportive space for reflection, learning, and development. Within an environment of trust and psychological safety, you are encouraged to explore your experiences, gain new perspectives, and define actionable paths forward in your professional growth.

Objectives

- Reflect on values, behaviours, goals, and vision.
- Examine your role and navigate team dynamics with an authentic, empathetic presence.
- Define gaps you want to address.
- Identify challenges, set achievable goals and develop action plans.
- Come to your own conclusions on your areas of development.

Course methodology

Our coaching services are delivered by highly experienced and credentialed coaches who also work within our learning programmes, giving them valuable insight into the UN context. Through one-on-one sessions, you will have the opportunity to reflect, learn, and take practical steps toward achieving your professional goals and vision.

If you have previously worked with one of our coaches, you are welcome to request to continue with the same coach. If this is your first coaching experience, we will contact you after your enrolment has been approved to match you with a coach best suited to your specific needs.

All sessions are confidential, fully tailored to you, and conducted online via Zoom, Microsoft Teams, telephone, or another preferred platform.
