Introduction

The United Nations System Staff College (UNSSC) has launched a new platform, called: Practical Approaches to Climate, Peace and Security Programming Repository. This platform collects best practices, lessons learnt and practical examples from experts from all around the globe on how to analyze, design, plan, implement, monitor and evaluate climate, peace and security projects.

If you a practitioner, analyst or researcher working in the area of climate, peace and security, or if you are simply curious and passionate about this field and its programmatic aspect, then this platform is for you!

The platform is open to all and available free of charge. Please register through the Sign up button to access it!
