The UNSSC Career Coaching Path is designed to support you in defining your professional direction and achieving greater clarity about your career goals. This is not a one-time conversation or a generic career advice session; instead, the coaching provides a structured and personalized process to help you reflect, plan, and take action.

You will be empowered with practical tools and tailored strategies to navigate your career path with confidence and purpose, whether you are exploring new opportunities, seeking growth in your current role, or preparing for the next step in your UN journey

Introduction

Career growth and transitions are common challenges in the United Nations (UN) system, often involving complex shifts such as moving between field and headquarters roles, pursuing promotions, or making strategic lateral changes. Navigating these changes while staying aligned with long-term goals, personal values, strengths, and aspirations, alongside organizational priorities, can be both demanding and deeply meaningful. Increasingly, professionals are also exploring transitions beyond the UN system, seeking roles in other sectors where your experience and skills can have impact in new ways.

Coaching can play a critical role in helping you reflect on your direction, identity, transferable strengths, and take intentional steps toward growth, wherever your next move may lead. It's why we are excited to launching our new Career Coaching Path including the Career Horizons self-paced learning modules, designed to help you gain clarity, confidence, and direction in shaping your professional journey.

Objectives

Through the optional self-paced modules, as well as the one-on-one coaching sessions, you will receive:

- Personalized support for career planning, skill enhancement, and professional growth, helping you gain clarity on your next steps and identify opportunities that align with your values and strengths.
- Tailored guidance on navigating inter-agency mobility, shifting between field and headquarters roles, exploring cross-function transitions, or moving into new sectors, including non-UN or private sector pathways.
- Support in aligning your professional goals with evolving priorities, global trends, and making informed decisions during times of transition or structural shifts within your organization.
- Assistance in identifying and articulating transferable skills, especially during lateral or sectoral shifts, to strengthen your positioning in competitive recruitment processes.
- A confidential, judgment-free space to reflect on challenges, aspirations, and what a meaningful and sustainable career path looks like for you.
- Support in preparing for interviews, updating CVs, and refining personal narratives, tailored to both internal and external roles.

Course methodology

Our Career Horizons self-paced learning modules help you reflect on your professional journey, clarify your goals, and plan your next steps with confidence. Through practical tools and guided reflection, you will learn to identify your strengths, explore new opportunities, and design a career path that aligns with your values and aspirations, all at your own pace.

Our coaching services are delivered by highly experienced and credentialed coaches who also work within our learning programmes, and specialize in career coaching. Through one-on-one sessions, you will have the opportunity to reflect, learn, and take practical steps toward achieving your professional goals and vision.

If you have previously worked with one of our coaches, you are welcome to request to continue with the same coach. If this is your first coaching experience, we will contact you after your enrolment has been approved to match you with a coach best suited to your specific needs.

All sessions are confidential, fully tailored to you, and conducted online via Zoom, Microsoft Teams, telephone, or another preferred platform.
