WHO WE ARE

Our vision:

To provide skills and knowledge to empower the most valuable resource of the UN system: our people.

Our Mission:

To contribute to a more effective, results-oriented, and agile United Nations through learning, training, and knowledge dissemination.

We are the learning organization of the United Nations system, headquartered in Turin, Italy with our Knowledge Centre for Sustainable Development in Bonn, Germany.

We provide high-quality and effective programmatic learning to empower UN staff and partners with competencies, and knowledge to support the UN system and Member States to achieve a better future for all.

As a learning provider for the UN system and its partners, the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development provides a framework for our work, along with the Sustaining Peace resolutions and the UN reform efforts.

Why Us?

We are UN

We are part of the UN family, and therefore well positioned to support the various UN reform efforts and transfer key principles and concepts underpinning the global policy frameworks of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the Sustaining Peace resolutions. We understand what it means to work in the United Nations - be it in the field or at headquarters, in low, middle, or high income countries, in programmes or in operations, in entry-level or management positions.

We are truly inter-agency

We are the only United Nations learning provider with an inter-agency mandate. As such, beyond bringing together UN staff from across the system through our learning and training offerings, our comparative advantage lies in the ability to provide an inter-agency perspective based on our wide and varied engagement with different entities within the UN and beyond.

We work in partnership, connecting experts and practitioners

We blend external expertise with practical UN experience. Each programme features subject-matter experts from renowned academic institutions, think tanks, the private sector and civil society, together with experienced UN practitioners. This allows for a rich exchange of experiences and perspectives, and fosters unique dialogue spaces in the spirit of multi-stakeholder collaboration.

WHAT WE OFFER

Our learning offer is varied and adaptable to different needs. We design and deliver learning interventions ranging from open-enrollment programmes as featured in this portfolio, to tailor-made learning solutions.

Face-to-face Learning

Our residential programmes are delivered in state-of-the-art facilities at the UN campuses in Turin, Italy and Bonn, Germany. We also deliver training in over 50 countries each year, thanks to our mobile team of trainers.

Distance Learning

Our distance learning courses combine self-paced online learning and live sessions with the course instructor and participants, making e-learning a truly interactive experience.

Academic Offerings

In collaboration with renowned universities, we contribute to the design of Masters Degree Programmes in areas that are particularly relevant to the work of the UN and its partners. Degree programmes available in the 2019/2020 academic year include “Sustaining Peace: From Theory to Practice” (University of Turin, Italy), “Master of International Development” (IE School of Global and Public Affairs, Spain) and “MBA Stream on Managing International Organisations” (University of Stellenbosch Business School, South Africa).

Tailor-made Learning

In addition to open-enrolment courses, we design and deliver tailor-made learning solutions to meet the specific needs of UN organizations, inter-agency groups, networks, departments, peace operations, governments and civil society partners. UN Country Teams, field offices, specialised agencies and Resident Coordinator Offices are among our regular clients.

Change Management Solutions

Our advisory services on change management range from diagnosing and scoping UN entities’ need for organizational change to supporting them in designing and implementing comprehensive realignment and change processes.

E-Learning Solutions

We create customised web-based learning solutions and knowledge tools for UN partners including distance learning courses, rosters of experts, performance analysis tools, apps and other collaborative knowledge assets. We also provide e-learning management systems to sustain UN learning initiatives, from deploying branded, agency-specific e-learning portals to free hosting of e-learning packages through our e-learning platform open to UN staff worldwide.

Facilitation & Retreats

Whether you are looking for a partner to design and deliver a strategic team retreat, or simply a unique venue to create the right learning environment for a knowledge-sharing or learning event, we are ready to support you. We can provide an “all inclusive” service (design, logistical support, facilitation, hosting and evaluation) or tailored services that cater to different needs.

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Advanced Course on Measurements for Results-Based Management

e-learning

Well-developed and structured plans are essential to manage programmes and projects, to involve the right people, and to achieve sustainable development results. This course equips participants with skills to develop measurable programme objectives, design performance measures and indicators, and identify appropriate data analysis procedures.

Designed and delivered in collaboration with the ROI Institute, this course enables effective results-based management (RBM) in UN system organisations by enhancing staff competencies in designing, monitoring and evaluating projects and programmes.

The course builds upon other UNSSC offerings on RBM by providing more in-depth, technical, and skills-building learning on one of the key elements of RBM strategies: performance measurement. Through a mix of theoretical learning, practical exercises and UN case studies, participants build skills in development measures, analysing data, reporting results, and using data to manage performance.

 Target Audience	UN and UN-affiliated staff involved in project/programme management, including design, monitoring and evaluation.
 Duration	6 weeks
 Venue	Online 16 September – 25 October 2019
 Course Fee	1,850 USD

Anti-Corruption in the context of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

e-learning

Despite progress made, corruption is still a pressing challenge. Resources lost through corruption exceed the estimated 10 trillion dollars required to eradicate poverty by 2030. Money lost to corruption is development denied to those most at risk of being left behind.

In collaboration with the UNDP Global Anti-Corruption Team, this new online course focuses on linkages between anti-corruption and sustainable development. This course enables participants to better support and promote the integration of anti-corruption initiatives in sustainable development plans and programmes.

The programme highlights the role anti-corruption plays in the implementation of the 2030 Agenda and facilitates knowledge and understanding of practical examples and key tools to enhance integration of anti-corruption in the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) measurement and monitoring.

 Target Audience	UN staff from headquarters, country teams or regional offices, government representatives, development practitioners as well as members of civil society, academia and foundations.
 Duration	4 weeks
 Venue	Online 18 March – 12 April 2019
 Course Fee	Free of charge to selected participants. This course has been developed by UNSSC and UNDP with significant inputs from UNODC, U4, OHCHR, GIZ, Sida, and International Anti-corruption Academy (IACA). The roll out of this course in 2019 is financially supported by UNDP and UNODC.

Applying Design Thinking in Implementing the 2030 Agenda: An Innovative Approach to Innovation

The design thinking approach is a human-centred systematic approach to problem-solving. When applied in the context of sustainable development, it can result in local, collaborative, and participatory initiatives that are founded on the local context rather than being retrofitted.

Building on key paradigms of being holistic, uninhibited, collaborative, iterative, and visual, this approach fosters integrative and cross-disciplinary thinking. The course enables participants to understand and analyse the design of their organisational initiatives from the perspective of the end user by guiding participants through the different stages of the design thinking process.

Participants are empowered to apply integrative and cross-disciplinary thinking to create human-centred solutions or reconsider existing organisational initiatives in support of the 2030 Agenda. They will benefit from an innovative toolkit that will encourage them to apply design thinking in their own context.

 Target Audience	Heads of UN Agencies at country level and other senior UN staff (P5 and above), as well as senior public and private sector representatives.
 Duration	4 days
 Venue	Bonn, Germany 25 – 28 June 2019
 Course Fee	2,500 USD

Building Partnerships for Sustainable Development

Within the context of a rapidly evolving development (cooperation) environment, it is critical to examine ways to strengthen multi-stakeholder partnerships. The UN is increasingly interacting with new, emerging and non-traditional development cooperation partners, such as philanthropic foundations, the private sector, academia and civil society who are jointly taking responsibility to shape the 2030 Agenda and implement the Paris Agreement.

This course is designed to strengthen knowledge and understanding regarding the imperatives for building partnerships and to offer key elements of partnering.

It serves as a platform for knowledge and experience sharing among partnership practitioners. The course explores key elements of partnering such as ethics, due diligence, rules of engagement, biases and stereotypes, conflicts of interest, as well as partnership frameworks and cases.

 Target Audience	UN staff: Programme and Policy Specialists, Coordination Officers, Partnership Specialists and Officers.
 Duration	4 days
 Venue	Bonn, Germany 2-5 July 2019
 Course Fee	2,500 USD

Financing the SDGs: Mobilising Finance for Sustainable Development

This programme strengthens knowledge and skills to engage in and catalyse the development and implementation of sustainable financing strategies and mobilising public and private investments for the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

The course equips participants with the aptitude to assess the development finance landscape, to identify possible financial resources and ways to leverage and to support development and implementation of sustainable financing strategies, and to mobilise both public and private resources and investments for SDGs.

It covers topics such as innovative financing mechanisms, effective national tax systems practices, elimination of illicit financial flows, digitalisation of finance, and Blockchain technology.

 Target Audience	Public and private sector representatives, UN staff and development practitioners.
 Duration	3 days
 Venue	Seoul, Republic of Korea 29 October – 01 November 2019
 Course Fee	2,500 USD

Policy Coherence for Sustainable Development

e-learning

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development demands integrated approaches that view development through a holistic lens, using a systemic approach that takes account of the causal relationship and the synergies and trade-offs produced among social, economic, and environmental dimensions in a comprehensive manner.

This online programme is designed to equip participants with an understanding of why policy coherence is important for achieving sustainable development, what coherent policymaking entails, and what specific tools, mechanisms and approaches can be employed to foster policy coherence.

The course provides opportunities to identify interlinkages and interdependencies among the sustainable development goals (SDGs), their policy interactions and effects, and their transboundary and intergenerational impacts. The course was designed in collaboration with the National University of Singapore Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy, the Hertie School of Governance, and the OECD.

 Target Audience	Development practitioners from the UN system, governments, non-governmental organizations, the private sector, civil society and academia.

Results-Based Management to support implementation of the 2030 Agenda

The UN system must take forward their collective responsibilities to make the UN fit for purpose to support the 2030 Agenda through reinforcing national ownership; developing country-contextual responses; and ensuring effective delivery of development results on the ground. The 2030 Agenda also calls for more effective systems operations, integrated and interdependent ways of working for collective outcomes and the impact of the consequent collective accountability. In this regard, results-based management is a key relevant strategy the UN system could pursue to support the 2030 Agenda implementation.

The five-day programme equips UN staff with the knowledge and skills to utilise results-based management tools to enhance their country level programming in the context of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and contribute to nationally owned sustainable development results.

 Target Audience	UN strategic planners; Chairs/members of UNDAF groups/results groups/task teams; UN Coordination officers/ advisors; UN staff involved in project/programme management.
 Duration	5 days
 Venue	Bonn, Germany 08 - 12 April 2019

Social Protection for Sustainable Development

e-learning

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development lays out a set of key objectives for developed and developing countries alike to end poverty, protect the planet, and ensure prosperity for all.

Among the priorities agreed upon by Member States is social protection repeatedly cited in the agenda as a primary means to reduce poverty and combat inequality. Designed in partnership with the International Labour Organization (ILO), the online course equips participants with a solid understanding of social protection and its relevance for sustainable development.

The course covers social protection floors and nationally appropriate social protection systems, and showcases country examples on the work done to extend social protection in the context of the 2030 Agenda.

 Target Audience	Participants from the UN, development agencies, bilateral donors, government officials, worker and employer organisations, members of civil society and academia.

Unleashing the Power of the Private Sector in Implementing the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development is unprecedented in its scope and ambition. The UN and governments have neither the reach nor the resources to implement it alone. Engagement, especially with the private sector, is imperative for the 2030 Agenda to succeed. Moreover, the agenda offers the private sector numerous opportunities to access new markets and institutional investment - estimated at about $12 trillion by 2030 while adding 380 million new jobs.

This in itself is a compelling argument for the private sector and governments to work together to make the 2030 Agenda a reality. This online course introduces participants to the different types of private sector entities and demonstrates how strategically engaging with these entities can help implement the 2030 Agenda. It familiarises participants with tools to identify common objectives to create shared value and emphasises the importance of mitigating risk.

Target Audience	UN staff, especially partnership specialists and officers. Development practitioners from governments, civil society, academia and the private sector.

What a UN Evaluator needs to know: How to Manage UN Evaluations in the context of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

The adoption of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development meant a new page in the history of humankind with nations united by the 17 Sustainable Development Goals, 169 targets and 232 indicators to build sustainable, inclusive, prosperous, and stable societies for all people, while leaving no one behind.

Independent evaluation has an important role to play in strengthening the oversight, transparency, accountability, and collective learning arrangements of the United Nations development system to enable continual enhancement of its contributions to the achievement of the 2030 Agenda.

Designed in close collaboration with the UN Evaluation Group (UNEG), the course is structured around the UN system-wide approach to evaluations, with the UNDAF evaluation process as the UN common evaluation example. The aim is to develop capacities of UN staff to design, commission, manage and use evaluations in the context of the 2030 Agenda.

Target Audience	UN Programme staff, involved in programme management, supporting and contributing to evaluations, UN Strategic planners, Chairs/members of UNDAF results and M&E groups and staff from UN Resident Coordinators Offices.

Leading for Sustainable Development

This programme is designed in partnership with the Commonwealth to enable senior international leaders to apply systems thinking and foster collaboration for greater impact in their work on sustainable development.

Under the 2030 Agenda, international leaders are required to think beyond their area of expertise; analyse their environment as a set of complex, living ecosystems; discern their organising principles as well as the linkages, interactions, dependencies, and power distribution among components and constituencies; and strategically identify leverage points to achieve maximum impact.

The programme is delivered through a combination of real-life case studies with presentations and instructor-led inputs, discussion, and reflections sessions. The faculty is composed of thought leaders on sustainable development, leadership and systems thinking from within and outside the UN.

Target Audience	Senior UN staff at the D1 - D2 levels; Resident and Humanitarian Coordinators; Agency Country Representatives; Alumni of the UN Leaders and UNCT Leadership Programmes; Senior government representatives, development practitioners, members of civil society, academia and foundations.
Duration	3 days
Venue	TBC 10 – 12 September 2019 TBC 31 October – 1 November 2019
Course Fee	3,300 USD

Leading for the UN: a Deep Dive

This unique programme is designed to challenge senior leaders in the UN and the international system to transform themselves and thereby their sphere of influence and organizations. The 2019 edition is offered in collaboration with the Dag Hammarskjöld Foundation and will take place at the summer home of the second UN Secretary General.

Many professional development programmes teach techniques for managing others. This programme will instead introduce some very new – and some very old – approaches for managing the self. It will help participants find their source of effectiveness and sense of purpose and begin a journey of inner awareness.

It includes a one-on-one goal-setting conversation with a facilitator one month before the programme, a 4-day intensive workshop and two group sessions following the course to help apply learning.

Target Audience	Staff at senior level (P5 and above) from the UN and affiliated organizations. The programme is complementary to UNSSC's UN Leaders Programme and is a “zoom in” alumni offering.
Duration	4 days and 2 follow-up webinars within the next three months.
Venue	Backåkra, Sweden 27 – 30 August 2019
Course Fee	4,000 USD

Implications of the UN System Leadership Framework for Programme Support and Administrative Services

The UN Leadership Framework reflected that leadership skills are not only for those who manage people or teams, the skills are also necessary to efficiently manage processes, make decisions, and communicate with others. In many organizations, GS administrative professionals work as behind-the-scenes managers because they sometimes make more decisions a day than the leadership team. So, it is important for GS administrative support staff to develop their management skills.

This workshop seeks to strengthen the capacity of UN GS Programme Support and Administrative Professionals in line with UN Leadership Framework.
